Boskke

Boskke is a design-lead, lifestyle brand producing innovative products to help you enjoy nature. Our name is derived from the old English word 'bosky' which means 'a small forest' and that's exactly what you can create with our intelligent, eco-sensitive designs.

'Our products celebrate all growing things, because we know that spaces that sustain plants are beautiful, healthy and bring vitality to the built environment'
Patrick Morris, Creative Director

We have been developing new gardening products that allow urban dwellers to make more of their living and working spaces since 2007. Our Red Dot Award winning Sky Planter inverts the traditional potted plant, hanging it from the ceiling to create stunning displays of air-filtering foliage, flowers and herbs. We have now extended our range to include the Boskke Cube, reassembling the humble plant pot, putting the organic process of growth on display, rather than hiding it away.

Boskke Cube

Introducing Boskke Cube.

'We have deconstructed the traditional plant pot and put it back together in a literally more transparent way. The clear plastic body reveals the water, soil, and roots of the plant, allowing you to witness firsthand the mechanics of plant growth.'

Patrick Morris, Creative Director

The clear body of the Boskke Cube also acts as a water reservoir, supplying up to four weeks of moisture through Boskke's Slo-Flo watering system.
